SPRING 2018 Online & Hybrid/Blended Courses Go Live! (4/5/18)

Hi Faculty,

This is just a quick update regarding the start of the term:

- New login page for Moodle. It looks different but your username and password are the same! The Go.Granite login page will be updated April 16th. In the meanwhile, you will be prompted to login again to access your Go.Granite email. The WebROCK login page has not been scheduled yet. Read more on the IT Support page.
- Wednesday, April 4th: if you are teaching a course with multiple sections, your developed course was copied into the new section. Please take a moment to check the new section, especially the gradebook to make sure everything copied as you want it. If you already had an announcement, this will need to be reposted in the new section. Should you need to make any edits/updates, you will need to make edits to both sections.
- Thursday, April 5th: Starting today, student enrollments will be added to the courses. Adds/drops will be processed 2x daily in the morning and late afternoon.
- Starting Friday, April 6th: All courses in Moodle will be made available to students 3 days prior to the official course start date. For example, if your course starts this Monday, April 9th then it will be available Friday, April 6th.
- New! When students are dropped from a course, their enrollments will NOT be removed from the course as in the previous terms. Instead their enrollment status will change from “active” to “suspended”. Learn more about how to hide these students from your gradebook and assignment submission panel here: Hiding Suspended Students in the Gradebook.
- Please Check Gradebook: We have noticed that some courses have the incorrect aggregation method specifically for gradebook categories. Categories need to be set to “simple weighted mean of grades” and the overall course should be set to “weighted mean of grades”. See this video on how to Fix Your Aggregation Method (2:11 mins.) If you need assistance with this, please don’t hesitate to request assistance.

Remember, first impressions matter! What do students see when they first log into your course?

Did you know that students perceive a course as more difficult if the organization is confusing?

Teacher/student interaction during the first couple of weeks is essential to student success. Make sure you have engaging activities to get them involved early on!

If you haven't already done so, be sure to do the following by this Thursday evening:

- ✓ Post your welcome announcement (approximately 33% of the faculty have already done this!) If this is posted in the announcements forum, it automatically gets pushed out to the students email. TIP: If you posted this announcement more than a week ago, we recommend that you open the announcement and select “edit”. You don't need to make any changes, just save it. This will change the posting date to today!
- ✓ Introduce yourself in an Introductions forum. Ask students to introduce themselves to each other as well.
- ✓ Check to make sure your Moodle profile is up-to-date (including picture, bio and any other contact information you want to make available to students. Let students know who you are! This is one of the first steps to creating your online persona.)
- ✓ Check to make sure that your syllabus is up-to-date. (Is the “updated” date visible in the main topic area?) Are you one of the 64 (25%) courses that still have an old or missing syllabus?
- ✓ Does your syllabus grading criteria match your gradebook setup? Don't get caught in a grade dispute! Make sure you are communicating accurate grades via the gradebook.
- ✓ Check to make sure all of your due dates are up-to-date. (Tip: Use the Assignments & Quiz links in the Activities Block to get a summary of all of these due dates!)
- ✓ If you would like to see your course as a student will see it, you can change your role temporarily via the “Switch role to...” link in the Administration block in your course.

On behalf of all of the Instructional Design Team, thank you for all your work in preparing your course for this term. Should you need assistance at any time, please don't hesitate to submit a help request form using the IT Support link in the upper navigation in Moodle! Be sure to select “instructional design” support type.

Sincerely,
